We are here to help.

We provide a safe, confidential place for students to talk with the Personal Counselor about any concerns or problems that might interfere with their personal growth and academic achievement.

Who is a personal counselor?
The Personal Counselor is a trained professional committed to helping students identify, understand, and develop skills to increase their self-awareness and resolve their personal problems.

What does the personal counselor do?
Offering individual one-to-one Counselling Services to help you:

- improve your well-being
- develop self-awareness
- overcome problems that are holding you back
- address mental health concerns (i.e. anxiety, depression)
- develop better relationships
- explore your academic and career directions
- increase your personal and academic resilience
- heal from traumatic experiences
Who can benefit from seeing the personal counselor?

Making a transition to university life is not always easy nor is the same experience for every student. Students face a variety of challenges which may affect their personal growth, emotional well-being, and their ability to strive. Some of these challenges include, but are not limited to:

- Anxiety
- Depression
- Grief, trauma
- Adjustment and transition
- Lack of self-confidence
- Relationship and family difficulties
- Concentration problems

Any of these issues can prevent students from reaching their full potential. Students may find that their previous methods of handling problems are not working. Counseling helps students learn new coping skills that help them handle their challenges in a better way.

What is confidentiality?

Confidentiality is the state of keeping everything private and confidential between the counselor and the student. Counseling is a confidential process where students are encouraged to speak freely and trust that their personal information will remain private. In the rare case that the counselor must speak with a student’s family member or Dean of Student Affairs, the student will be notified.
