Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science

The School of Arts and Sciences at the American University in Dubai invites qualified applicants for the position of Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science in the Department of International and Middle Eastern Studies to begin teaching in Spring 2024/Fall 2024.

The successful candidate should have:

- Ph.D. in Political Science, International Relations, or a closely related field from a Western-accredited university
- Previous teaching experience in areas related to international law and diplomacy, global governance and sustainability, security studies, and related topics in a Western higher education system
- Evidence of scholarly activity or strong potential for scholarly contributions
- Excellent written and oral communication skills in English
- An ability to work collegially within a team of faculty members from diverse disciplines

Candidates will have evidence of successful teaching experience or must demonstrate significant potential and promise of teaching effectiveness and excellence at the undergraduate and graduate level. Additionally, candidates are expected to have an active research agenda, a record of professional development, and a willingness to assist in student advising, curriculum development, and other service to the department, school, and community.

A regional focus on the Middle East and experience teaching at the graduate level are preferred.

The compensation package for this position is competitive and is based on the expatriate model. Besides tax-exempt basic salary, it includes housing, annual two-way airfare, health / life insurance, professional memberships, conference attendance expenses, assistance with children's tuition, and other components.
